Death of Pioneer.

Mrs. J. P. Hackett died at her home in Corunna, Monday, after an illness of several months of cancer. She was about 70 years old and had resided in Corunna for nearly 50 years.

Mrs. Hackett was Miss Emma Hill of Davidson. Last Friday she and her husband had intended celebrating their golden wedding anniversary, but her illness caused a postponement. Shortly after their marriage they moved to Corunna, Mr. Hackett having just returned from the war.

Besides the husband, Mrs. Hackett is survived by six children and many grandchildren. The children are: Samuel Hackett of Charleston, W. Va., Lavina of Austin; Catherine of Caro; Mrs. Charles Eilber and Arthur of Corunna, and Eugene Hackett of Detroit.

WOOD NYMPH CAUGHT, WITHHOLDS HER NAME

Sparta Sheriff Wraps Girl of Mystery in Horse Blanket.

LaCrosse, Wis., Aug. 11.—After a week's search, Sheriff George Boss and Humane Officer George Manuel drove into Sparta with Sparta's mysterious nude wood nymph wrapped in a horse blanket. Crowds followed the party to the jail, where the nymph is being cared for by the sheriff's wife.

The identity of the girl is a mystery and she refuses to talk. She meets all questions with a laugh and seems to care not at all that she has been cavorting about through Monroe county woods for nearly a fortnight clad only in a lace nightcap trimmed with a blue ribbon.

This nymph is a decided blonde and appears to be about 25 years old.

Beyond admitting she had been in Lacrosse and that this city might be her home, she refuses to answer any questions.

Bad Memory.

Flatbush—You've got a piece of thread about your thumb. Bensonhurst—Yes, wife put it there to remind me to mail her letter. "Did you mail it?" "Sure thing." "Why don't you remove the thread then?"

"Oh, I'm keeping that on to remind me to tell her that I forgot to put a stamp on it."—Yonkers Statesman.

A Hasty Makeup.

An actor once was cast as a brigand in "Ingomar," and the director told him to get a rug, throw it about his shoulders and sit by a camp fire. He did so, his face being toward the audience. In a tense situation he stood up, turned around and almost broke up the show. Worked in the rug was one word, "Welcome!"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Guessed It.

Inspector, examining a class in grammar, wrote a sentence on the blackboard and asked if any one noticed anything peculiar in it.

After a short silence a small boy exclaimed:

"Yes, sir; the bad writing."—Exchange.

New Lothrop

Sunday morning at the M. E. church F. L. Chase was elected delegate to the annual conference to be held at Port Huron.—Some weeks ago, while Mrs. Isaac Wood was away visiting friends, fell and injured her right arm. It has continued to give her much trouble since, and Dr. Fritch was called and found that the bone between the elbow and shoulder was fractured.—Miss Pearl Kribs left Wednesday for her home in Owosso after an extended visit at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Kribs.—Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hettis and Manley Glacier and son Ollie, left Sunday morning for Capac to visit relatives. The trip was made by automobile.

Henderson.

Miss Elsa Clark who has been visiting relatives and friends in Ovid, Burton, Middlebury and Owosso the past ten days, returned to her home Friday evening.—Mrs. J. D. Young of Perry, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. Krauth the last of the week.—Mrs. Sadie Gordon entertained her Sunday school class Saturday afternoon. The time was spent in games and refreshments were served on the lawn.—Miss Vivian Tooker was the guest of Mildred Hurrell of Owosso, this week.—John Hunt and family of South Bend, Ind. are visiting relatives and friends here.—Robert Beedle of Gaylord, is visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. Dan Beedle.—Mrs. John Harris of Detroit, is visiting at the home of her brother John Teifer, and other relatives here.

Morrice.

A peculiar accident was witnessed by the citizens of this place Monday morning. Fred Stone drove his car into town at a rapid pace and in turning the corner from Morrice street to Main the rear axle of his car broke off near the wheel and rolled towards the front of H. V. Pierce's store where it jumped the curb and crashed through the store front smashing the sash and three lights out of his show window and breaking some crockery. The wheel came rest inside the window as if on display. Mr. Stone escaped uninjured.—The booster days still prove a great attraction at this place. A large crowd was on the streets Saturday evening to hear the band play. Ray Horton clogged and oranges were distributed to the people, and the dance was a success.—Born to Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Joslin, Monday, a daughter.—A horse belonging to Edward Vanever fell through the platform of a well at which it was drinking and was rescued with difficulty but fortunately not seriously injured.—A daughter was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mortimer.—C. E. Curry is building a silo on his farm south of town.

Ideal Helpmates.

The farmer's wife knows more about her husband's business than any other man's wife knows about his. She has a fairer, clearer and more helpful understanding of it than the average lawyer's, doctor's or merchant's wife can possibly have about her husband's business, for she lives and works with her husband on their "plant." The farmer's wife is the farmer's partner in more senses than one. In the majority of cases she actually operates certain departments of the business.

Most wives have genuine interest in and some information about their husbands' business, but the farmer's wife, living with her partner on their plant, occupies a unique position among all wives. With this greater opportunity for helpfulness than her city sisters her responsibilities have increased proportionately. All honor and respect to her who carries this heavier burden.—Farm and Fireside.

Jelly Roll Recipe

Only Two Eggs Required

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

This Jelly Roll is fast becoming very popular on account of the way it keeps fresh. With proper handling it should keep fresh a whole week, providing it isn't eaten up in the meantime, for it is every bit as good as it looks.

One cup sifted flour; scant half teaspoonful salt; 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; grated rind of 1 lemon; 2 eggs beaten light; 1 cup sugar; 1/2 cup hot milk; glass of jelly; powdered sugar.

Beat the sugar into the eggs; add the lemon rind, then the flour, sifted three times with the salt and baking powder and, lastly, the milk. Bake in a buttered dripping pan; turn out on a damp cloth, trim off the crisp edges, spread with jelly and turn over and over into a roll while still warm. Dredge the top with powdered sugar.

Hot milk used in the jelly roll enables it to be rolled without danger of cracking. Have the milk scalding hot, also be careful to have the eggs and sugar beaten together until very light and creamy. Bake in a moderate oven.

K C Jelly Roll is illustrated on page thirty-two of the new and handsomely illustrated 64-page K C Cook's Book, which may be secured free by sending the certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the JAGURS MFG. CO., Chicago, Ill.

TOWER OF BABEL.

Its Remnants Are Believed to Stand Near Babylon's Ruins.

It is doubtful if there is any place in the world so rich in ancient remains as the valley of the Euphrates, in Mesopotamia. The result is that to archaeologists and scholars the place is a veritable "Tom Tiddler's ground," and new "finds" are constantly being reported.

When it is remembered that tradition places the site of the Garden of Eden here, while among its many ruins are those of ancient Babylon, the promising nature of the valley to the scientific excavator becomes apparent. It is near the ruins of Babylon that we find what many scholars believe to be the remains of the tower of Babel—an immense cube of brickwork, called by the natives Birs Nimrud.

Recent exhaustive examination of the strange pile and its site has revealed the fact that the tower that once stood here consisted of seven stages of brickwork on an earthen platform, each being of a different color.

The tower boasted of a base measurement of nearly 600 square feet and rose to an unknown height. Even today the ruins rise some 160 feet above the level of the surrounding plain.—Wide World Magazine.

WHEN YOUTH DIES.

Shock of the First Realization That One Is Getting Old.

The moment when one first feels acutely that he is no longer young is bound to make one pause in something akin to consternation. For vividness it is like a flash of lightning across a black sky. Life no longer is all before one; even more dreadful thought, it may be mostly behind.

After the first keen realization there follows a bewildered state of mind due to unwillingness—yes, to an actual puzzled inability to accept the truth. With all the agony of the startled call of a child at night the heart cries out, "It cannot be; it is not so."

Youth dies hard and fights and struggles in its dying like an imprisoned bird. Others, even those near and dear, are older, are even old; we can see that. But how can the stubborn facts be true as to ourselves? Very gradually, little by little, fighting its way inch by inch, the truth prevails and gnaws at the heart—though only intermittently, of course—until time numbs this emotion as it does every other one.—Robert L. Raymond in Atlantic Monthly.

Poetry and Noses.

I have read that no poem was ever written to a nose. Can you, offhand, recall a single rapturous or even admiring description of one? I search my memory in vain, but produce instead one instance that has always interested me by neglect. You recall that little poem of Browning's, "A Face," the brief and charming description of a girl's profile against a background of gold. The "matchless mold" of softly parted lips, the neck "three fingers might surround" and the "fruit shaped perfect chin" all receive their due of praise; the nose, a seeming necessity in any profile, is not even mentioned. It may be as well; each reader supplies in the lovely face the line that suits him best. The poet may have feared that by its mere mention he would produce the effect too often given by the nose in real life—a heaviness that mars an otherwise charming face.—Atlantic.

Smokeless Powder.

Ordinary powder produces smoke when fired because of the quantity of fine particles formed from the breaking up of the saltpeter and from some of the charcoal which is not completely burned. To get rid of smoke, so long a handicap in the use of guns, it was necessary to produce a substance that would explode without leaving any solid residue. This was accomplished by the use of gun cotton or nitrocellulose, from which the most satisfactory smokeless powder is made. The substance is a chemical compound, not a mixture like gunpowder, and is made by treating cotton with a mixture of nitric and sulphuric acids. When exploded it is all converted into gases. Burning is not necessary to cause an explosion, a mere shock or jar being sufficient. It is too violent an explosive to use in small arms or in cannon, but gun cotton can be made into less forceful forms, suitable for use in guns, and most brands of smokeless powder are made in this way.—Boston Herald.

Japanese Hotel Bedrooms.

In "Queer Things About Japan" Douglas Sladen gives a picture of the Japanese hotel bedroom, which still leaves much to be desired in comfort and privacy: "Before dinner is over you begin to long for your bed. You ask to be taken to your bedroom, but your bedroom is taken to you. Its walls and the bed are brought in. The walls are paper shutters which make a slice of the sitting room your own; the bed is a quilt. 'Take up your bed and walk' is an everyday occurrence in the east, where a bed is a spread. The only way a European can get any comfort out of a Japanese bed is to sleep on about half a dozen at once, one on top of the other. If you want to wash you must do it outside. The Japanese will not allow a basin of water on their precious mats."

Overcoming Difficulties.

I find nothing so singular in life as this, that everything opposing appears to lose its substance the moment one actually grapples with it.—Hawthorne.

None but the ill bred ridicule the peculiarities of others.

SIX ARE INDICTED IN EASTLAND DISASTER

Arnold, Hull, Steele, Davis, Pederson and Erickson Hit.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—Three indictments—one charging four men jointly with manslaughter and two others charging criminal carelessness—were voted by the Cook county grand jury which has been investigating the Eastland disaster. The men named jointly in manslaughter charges are:

W. H. Hull, vice-president and general manager of the St. Joseph-Chicago Steamship company.

W. C. Steele, secretary-treasurer same company.

Ray W. Davis, assistant secretary-treasurer same company.

George F. Arnold, president same company.

Those indicted for criminal carelessness are:

Captain Harry Pederson, who was in charge of the death ship.

Joseph Erickson, the engineer of the Eastland.

The evidence is being reviewed, and other indictments are expected.

There will be no indictments against the federal steamboat inspectors. It was decided, it was said, that the state had not the necessary jurisdiction to cause the indictment of the inspectors inasmuch as they have been engaged in the performance of their duties under the federal laws and regulations; if they have been guilty of any infraction of the law the federal government, not the state, must deal with them.

HAVE YOU A CHILD?

Many women long for children, but because of some curable physical derangement are deprived of this greatest of all happiness.

The women whose names follow were restored to normal health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Write and ask them about it.

"I took your Compound and have a fine, strong baby."—Mrs. JOHN MITCHELL, Massena, N. Y.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a wonderful medicine for expectant mothers."—Mrs. A. M. MYERS, Gordonville, Mo.

"I highly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before child-birth, it has done so much for me."—Mrs. E. M. DOERR, R. R. 1, Conshohocken, Pa.

"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to build up my system and have the dearest baby girl in the world."—Mrs. MOSE BLAKELEY, Imperial, Pa.

"I praise the Compound whenever I have a chance. It did so much for me before my little girl was born."—Mrs. E. W. SANDERS, Rowlesburg, W. Va.

"I took your Compound before baby was born and feel I owe my life to it."—Mrs. WINNIE TILLIS, Winter Haven, Florida.

The Secret of a Good Figure often lies in the braaiere. Hundreds of thousands of women wear the Bien-Jolie Braaiere for the reason that they regard it as necessary as a corset. It supports the bust and back and gives the figure the youthful outline which fashion desires.

BIEN-JOLIE

are the simplest, most serviceable garments imaginable. Only the best of materials are used—for instance, "Wolm", a flexible braaiere of great durability—absolutely fireproof—permitting laundering without removal.

They come in all styles, and your local Dry Goods dealer will show them to you on request. If he does not carry them, he can easily get them for you by writing to us. Send for an illustrated booklet showing styles that are in high favor.
